

"A Material Ghost"

(Linda Marie Fischer)

(Phil Fischer)

[Chorus]

I was born alive
before I died.
A material ghost,
now I'm revived.

I remember it all,
awake,
all night, hanging on,
hanging onto the light.

Sweating away the hours,
dreaming of a plunge,
into a penthouse pool,
alone, cool.

[Chorus]

I turn from my lover,
and hear it said,
"this too shall pass."
I'm not sure I can last.

I cover the folds,
hiding what I cannot replace,
young skin, young face,
yellow hair, so fair.

[Repeat Chorus]

I was a girl long ago.
But now it doesn't show.
My life is heat and motion,
swirling in me like a hot ocean.
People bump into me like I'm a ghost.
But I'm material, from pillar to post.
Not invisible, I stand my ground, bringing my mother's honor around.

(Linda Marie Fischer)

(Phil Fischer)

[Repeat Chorus]

[Repeat Chorus]

I am of free will.
I made my rebirth.
To strength, to courage,
I'll show you my worth.
