

"Carrying the Nest"

(Linda Marie Fischer)

(Phil Fischer)

You're not alone.
You're not alone.
You're not alone.
You're not alone.

[Chorus 1]
You're not alone,
you're carrying the nest.
One twig is as good as a throne,
for the weary heart to rest.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

Sometimes home is a pebble,
an old first place medal.
Pictures elemental,
thoughts sentimental.

Leaving what you can't carry,
you're on a venture for the wary.
Every byway is scary
You have to go.

So you're searching for a new start,
sorrow can't be the missing part.
You build your nest one twig at a time,
and when you say you're done you've just begun.

You stopped to make your mark,
decorating a home is decorating the heart.
Back there you left the land,
carrying the smallest things and a reprimand.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

[Repeat Chorus 1]

(Linda Marie Fischer)

(Phil Fischer)

They can say what they say
you left when it became too much
it's them who are out of touch.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

[Chorus 2]

Time passes it all seems right, yet one night you wake and there's no light.
You reach for the medal, holding it tight,
it's time again to take flight.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

[Repeat Chorus 1]

Now you've made a new home shared with brothers that roam.
Gathering their own twigs to be stitched and sewn
no regrets, none flying free.
Feeling the warmth of the sun,
opening your hand you see your old first place medal
and call it victory.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

[Repeat Chorus 1]

They can say what they say
You left when it became too much.
It's them who are out of touch.

[Repeat Chorus 1]
