

"Tethers Unbound"

(Linda Marie Fischer)

(Phil Fischer)

I was young and
my life was not sung.
Choices not made,
have a price to be paid.

My life went on in its routine,
toiling unseen and unredeemed.
And still no light.
What's wrong with me? I cried in the night.

[Chorus]
The candle casts shadows on the wall.
Life was set up for my big fall.
Tethers tied me down.
They had to come unbound.

[Repeat Chorus]

Time flew.
The past was through.
Tethers had come unbound,
and now my fate was coming around.

My mind acted first,
realizing in a sudden burst
that light had entered my imagination.
I saw myself at the train station.

[Repeat Chorus]

[Repeat Chorus]

Then I went into motion,
acting out this notion.
I pushed the door open wide,
no more will I be denied.
I took the big stride.
Now there was no choice.
I heard my own voice,
the lovely lonely scream.

"Tethers Unbound" (continued)

(Linda Marie Fischer)

(Phil Fischer)

There's still time it would seem,
for a future with dreams
and walks with sunbeams.

I sold my home,
setting up to roam.
To find my spot,
I fin'lly got a shot.

Each day I look in the mirror.
My hopes come nearer.
A wrinkle or two etched there,
nothing I can't bear.

[Repeat Chorus]

[Repeat Chorus]

[Repeat Chorus]

[Repeat Chorus]