

"The Roar of the Butterfly"

(Linda Marie Fischer)

(Phil Fischer)

[Chorus 1]

Hello to you.
Welcome to me.
A butterfly to be,
this is my destiny.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

I was born in a cocoon.
I needed to leave soon.
And be reborn beyond scorn.
Or see what could have been and mourn.

I lived the smallest of lives.
Pretty but not pretty enough was my demise.
I felt time passing me by,
And I wondered If I was ever gonna to fly.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

[Repeat Chorus 1]

The sky was ever blue
yet nothing seemed possible or even true.
My heart said that life was more.
But from here to there what did I live for?

I was in more than a rut.
There was no up.
I went nowhere.
Beware, beware.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

[Repeat Chorus 1]

I found the door.
Hear me roar.
The sun gives me power
in this short week and hour.

"The Roar of the Butterfly" (continued)

(Linda Marie Fischer)

(Phil Fischer)

A butterfly like me doesn't need more.
I know what I'm for.
I'm part of the rainbow which brings hope tomorrow.

All I needed was bravery
to get somewhere quickly.
Courage swept into my heart and I didn't fall apart.

Then dark became the light.
I squealed in fright.
I was given sight.
And suddenly all the might.

[Repeat Chorus 1]

[Repeat Chorus 1]

[Chorus 2]
Hello to you.
Welcome to me.
Hello to you.
A butterfly to be this is my destiny.

[Repeat Chorus 2]
